Why am I doing these assessments? - I already have exemptions

Assessments are part of the funding rules, and everyone must do them regardless of their previous qualifications or agreed exemptions.

Quest Training

What happens if I don't do very well with these assessments?

Your assessment results will give us a true picture of your level - asking other people to help or checking answers online will inflate your level.

It's far more important that we have an accurate analysis rather than a false level.

Quest Training

What if I achieve a high level and have no weaknesses?

That's unlikely as Skillsbuilder is designed to stretch your ability and usually there is something to improve on.

That's why your assessment levels must be a true reflection and an accurate record - it needs to show where we go from here.

Without agreed exemptions you will be doing functional skills tests and must understand where improvement is needed.

Quest Training

What happens after I have completed my assessments?

When your assessments are complete Skillsbuilder works out the gaps in your knowledge and the levels you have achieved.

For example you may need to improve on fractions or punctuation or perhaps spreadsheets.

Your assessment results have given you:

- An overall level for each subject
- A percentage for every topic
- A plan to improve that percentage

How do I log back in and practice on Skillsbuilder?

You login as before, using the same details, but instead of a full assessment you continue with your skills plan.

The skills plan contains tutorial videos and information on each topic to guide you.

Guidance and support will be available from your tutor.

The progress you make prepares you for the tests.
